Normandy Farms Campground

Normandy Farms Campground (Foxboro, Mass.), was looking to complement its RV and cottage rental offerings when they discovered the Pacific Yurt, a lightweight, low-cost, state-of-the-art version of the ancient shelter used by Central Asian nomads. The modern yurt retains the sense of wholeness of the ancient form while delivering the structural integrity, longevity and low maintenance demanded by modern users. The 24-ft. diameter yurts offer comparable square footage to cabins, and the interior includes a 32" flat screen TV, fireplace, private bedroom with double bed, full kitchen and bath.

Kristine Daniels, Normandy Farms owner, says, "We introduced our first yurt a few years ago with such an outstanding reception from our guests that we've now eliminated our RV rentals and offer only yurts and cabins."
